SOFTWARE LICENSE AND IT ASSET MANAGEMENT
TRACKING SOLUTION

YOUR CHALLENGE

Many organizations large and small are dealing with a cumbersome legacy process for managing, tracking and reporting on software, hardware, support contracts and other IT assets. The information surrounding these contracts and support expiration dates is usually spread out in technology and business stovepipes, which often requires manually developed reports on expenditures and usage of licenses or equipment. The business process and multiple decentralized tools create a chaotic environment for effectively managing an organization's IT assets.

OUR SOLUTION

Mythics had developed a software tool that can help manage this overall IT asset management process. The development of this capability is done leveraging Oracle's Application Express running the Mythics developed License Orchestrator software. This is an embedded feature of the Oracle database, so there is no software cost to enable the full License Orchestrator functionality leveraging an existing Oracle database. For customers who do not own Oracle, Mythics makes it easy and affordable by including a license of the necessary Oracle components with the Mythics Data Analyzer software bundle. This web based platform enables you to easily track and manage software and hardware inventory including purchasing details, support contract expirations, spare pools to eliminate unneeded purchases and can keep track of intended future requirements to bundle future purchases which in some cases may achieve a higher volume discounts.

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

License Orchestrator allows non-technical users to centrally manage, track and report on software licenses, support contracts and other user defined IT assets within an organization.
